HALLOWE'EN QUIET FOR POLICE FORCE

Little Damage Done and Boys and Girls Last Night Behaved Exceptionally Well.

Halloween night passed with comparative quietness, according to the police department. On the whole throughout the city there was an unquestionable absence of nuisances committed and the youngsters—both boys and girls—failed to give the police much trouble. From the third ward and the first, where on most Halloweens the police have considerable trouble in holding down the mischievous boys, there was not a complaint last night.

In Monterey large gangs collected, but did little damage. Somebody lost quite a number of shovels of corn, it was figured, from the amount of stalks which were scattered over both the drive and the sidewalk on Monterey bridge this morning.

Chief Chapman up in the first ward, evidently made a hit with a big crowd of girls. It appeared so at least, for they recognized him half a block away and graciously invited him to come to their party. For once in this ward, J. P. Carle's grocery delivery wagon was not hung up on a telephone post.

In the fifth ward a section of the fence at the Grant school was torn down and placed across Pleasant street. A farmer in an automobile ran into it, but the damage to his car was small. Several wagons were moved, but all were recovered before midnight.

Three bicycles were reported stolen to the police. One was taken from the front of a West Milwaukee street candy store a moment after the youth had entered. It was found this morning secreted in a down town alley. The others are still missing, but the police believe they were taken just as jokes.

Wisconsin lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodge No. 48, will give a card party Thursday evening, Nov. 2, at the East Side Odd Fellows' hall. A light lunch will be served. All members and invited friends are welcome.

Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Powell and Mrs. C. W. Kerch were solo visitors on Tuesday.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM FOR STATE MEETING OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

BIG GATHERING OF BIBLE SCHOOL WORKERS WILL BE HELD IN CITY, NOVEMBER 8, 9 AND 10.

ABLE MEN WILL SPEAK

State and National Leaders in Biblical Education Will Take Part in Discussions.

A program of high merit has been arranged for the fifty-sixth annual convention of the Wisconsin Sunday School association which will be held in Janesville on November 8, 9 and 10. Besides the general sessions which will be held, morning, afternoon and evening, there will be sectional meetings in charge of experts in Sunday school work held each afternoon and evening in which much of the constructive work of the convention will be done.

Men and women of state and national reputation in the line of biblical instruction have been secured to give addresses. Among those who will address the general sessions are: Dr. William A. Brown, international Sunday school field worker, Dr. Charles S. Medbury, of Des Moines, Iowa, Prof. M. V. O'Shea of the state university, R. N. McIntire of Topeka, Kansas, and the Rev. M. C. Sten, prominent Iowa educator. Public will be more interested in the general sessions to which they are cordially invited, although the sectional meetings will be attractive to Sunday school teachers and others concerned with the more advanced methods of Bible school work.

In the elementary division, Miss Mabel Bailey of Neenah will preside. A feature of the program for this section will be a demonstration junior promotion service in charge of Miss Madge Wilson and her class of Edgemoor. Among the speakers in the elementary division will be L. A. Markham, secretary of the Rock county Y. M. C. A., the Rev. F. T. Cartwright of Milwaukee, the Rev. E. H. Brigham of this city, E. M. C. A., and the Rev. E. A. Folley of Racine. In the adult division W. D. Sten, prominent Iowa educator, will be a featured one of the principal speakers.

Another division which will be of special interest to the superintendent and administrative officers of the Sunday schools represented, will have a program of worth and value. Such subjects as "The Grading of the School," "Training of Teachers and School," and "Financing the Sunday School," will be treated by persons familiar with those phases of the work. An entire division conducted in the German language will be a feature of the convention on Wednesday. Prominent German ministers will be on the program.

Following is the complete program for the convention:

Y. M. C. A. ANNOUNCES

CAMPAIGN BANQUETS

Will Give Dinner for Grade School Boys on Friday Evening.—Campaign Dinner Next Wednesday.

Friday night will be grade school night at the Y. M. C. A. At that time all grade school members of the Y. M. C. A. are invited to a luncheon at six o'clock, followed by a "run hour" lasting until half past eight. Mr. Richards, the boys' secretary, is planning a program of interesting games and is anxious to see all members of the grade schools be present at this first social affair of the year.

One feature of the evening will be an indoor baseball game between two selected teams. All grade school boys applying for membership this week will be invited to attend this affair on Friday evening.

On next Wednesday evening the Y. M. C. A. announces a booster banquet to be given to all boys on the campaign teams who have secured two or more new members, and for the new members secured during the campaign. The boys' campaign has already resulted in the enrollment of 110 boys during the past week, but the officers of the association hope to increase this number to two hundred before the end of the campaign. This is to continue throughout the week. With the organization of the boys and of the city into definite districts for solicitation, the work is progressing better than at first.

Even the men's campaign has not ceased. Yesterday the application of nineteen young men were received by the secretary. A most encouraging thing about the campaign this year has been the fact that a large number of the members of the association were young men who would take an active interest in the various departments of the association. Over twice as many young men have joined this year, than there were in last year's campaign.

This evening the senior classes will hold a reception for a number of young men of the city who are not members and it is probable that their interest will be sufficiently aroused to join.

Good School Record: The following pupils of District Number 2, Harmony, were neither tardy nor absent during the last school month: Everett Decker, Harry and Arthur, Alice and Arthur Schultz, Alice and Floris Beinema, Ruth Geskey and Clara and Bennie Babson. Miss Lela Petty is their teacher.

P. LORILLARD OPENS EVANSVILLE PLANT

Large Tobacco Company to Open Stemming Plant in Evansville This Week—Employ 100.

Evansville, Nov. 1.—Due to the activities of a representative of the P. Lorillard company, Evansville is to be the seat of a new tobacco establishment, a stemming plant, which will carry on one of the largest businesses in this part of the country. Within the past few weeks George Gary, of Madison has been investigating conditions around this city, and has also been looking over various sites for the new factory, with the result that last week a deal was closed with the Libby people for the lease of their warehouse.

The P. Lorillard company has for some time conducted a series of warehouses throughout the tobacco section of the state, and with the development of the producing end, has felt the necessity for erecting another stemming plant to handle the output. The plant will be exclusively a stemming plant. It will employ over one hundred men, making it one of the largest plants in the vicinity. Operations will begin within a week. The establishment of this industry here will mean much to Evansville, in that it will give employment to a large number of men, and that it makes Evansville one of a tobacco center than ever before. The P. Lorillard company is one of the oldest tobacco manufacturing firms in the country, and has long been known for its financial strength and its ability to conduct large-scale operations. It is believed that they have this new enterprise to boost the growing financial and economic interests of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wood announced the arrival of a son, born yesterday. Miss Maude Rose and mother of Rockford are visiting at the home of Mrs. J. F. Waddell.

Mrs. J. B. Baldwin left early this morning for Chicago, where she was met by her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin will spend the next few days in Grand Rapids, Michigan, where Mr. Baldwin is called to attend a teachers' convention.

Tomorrow evening the Young Ladies' Missionary society of the Congregational church will entertain with a hand dinner supper.

The Women's Missionary society of the Baptist church will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Heron. Mrs. Frank Kornst entertained the Tourists' club last evening.

The boys of the Congregational church met last Monday evening for their first instructions in gymnasium and calisthenic work.

Rev. Becker of the local Methodist church, is the recipient of a call to the Methodist church of Park Place, Milwaukee. Rev. Becker announced last evening that his acceptance of the call would depend upon the dictates of church officials higher up. These officials met in Milwaukee this morning. Rev. Becker has been in Evansville less than two months.

THE REBEKAH FROLIC AT CLAUDE HUNTLY'S

Walworth, Nov. 1.—The Rebekah Rubens from Walworth departed from their usual routine of town life Monday and went back to the farm for one night. Soon after eight the town rubes and the farmers and farmeresses of Rebekah lodge assembled, fifty in number and went by auto to the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Huntly to remind them of the passing of their 15th wedding anniversary. They were somewhat surprised to find the house was a pleasant surprise, with everything from the old fashioned quadrille to the fox trot was danced and enjoyed by all. The event of the evening was the presentation to the Noble Grand and husband of a cut glass fern dish by the Vice Grand, Mrs. H. A. Rogers, in behalf of the lodge to which the couple responded in a pleasant manner, after which a banquet was served. John Featherstone and Mrs. R. J. Alberts favored the company with choice reading. Wiley Milson did some very clever clog dancing. Mrs. C. D. Aclay made an excellent political speech. R. J. Alberts sang a solo and at last good night was said. The party broke up at yet happy and went home to "hit the hay" feeling satisfied the Rebekahs had added another delightful affair to its many good social times for which it is so the wisher and Mr. Huntly happy returns of their wedding day.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Tyler of Edgerton spent Sunday at the home of their son, John and family.

Mrs. John Tyler is entertaining her sister, Mrs. W. H. Houde and children of Edgerton and Miss Belle Dennison of Evansville.

The Helms Club, of which Mrs. Gus Ruhmer is a member, of Clinton, Wis., were entertained Tuesday at her pleasant home in the Bookham addition. After a delicious dinner a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed. The ladies coming from Clinton were Mrs. Geo. M. French, Mrs. Geo. Miner, Mrs. Albert White, Mrs. Clarence Giles, Mrs. Leo Pye, Mrs. H. F. Dahlman.

Parish, Nov. 1.—The protection from German shells enjoyed by convicts through their own misdeeds, while the law-biding men of France are making such heavy sacrifices, has raised a discussion as to the propriety of sending to the front of all able-bodied men now in prison.

'Jailbird slackers' is the name given to men sentenced in 1914 or previously to periods of confinement that have carried them over the first two years of the war. A law recently introduced in the chamber of deputies by Pierre Rameil and Andre Hesse contemplates the incorporation of certain categories of these men. The proposition was received with considerable satisfaction until a study of the question developed formidable objections. A great many people held that would be according too much honor to allow convicts to fight at the front alongside the gallant soldiers of the republic. Others held that the results would scarcely justify the experiment, while the number of recruits that could be obtained this way, estimated at the ministry of justice between 3,000 and 4,000, would furnish too small an effort to justify the risk. It would be necessary to provide an organization absolutely separate and distinct from any other army of the service to prevent contact between convicts and the soldiers of the regular army.

A great many prisoners have begged for the privilege of a suspension of their sentence to permit them to go to the front, and have thus appealed with some force to the sentiment of charitably minded people. There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Nov. 1.—About fifty members of St. John's Masonic lodge of this city motored to Fort Atkinson last evening and were guests of Billings lodge of that place. There were also members of the Milton and Jefferson lodges present and in all about two hundred. The work for the evening was the M. M. degree and was conducted by the Jefferson members. After the lodge work was finished a delightful luncheon was served by the local order and a pleasant evening was passed. Many of the members of the different orders called on and responded with short speeches and the meeting broke up at a late hour.

RHETORICAL DIPLOMACY.

Consul General Skinner, at London, in a dispatch to the State department, enumerates fifteen merchant vessels which have been sunk within a few days with the loss of twenty-eight human beings. This is the face of humanity, the face of the principles of humanity in submarine warfare. Consul General Skinner's dispatch is significant inasmuch as it revives the question: "What has President Wilson's note writing diplomacy accomplished?" The record of failure may best be set forth under the head of "humanity" and "principles of humanity." The controversy over the "commercial black list" and "naval seizures" is where it began. President Wilson's rhetorical demands have been politely but firmly ignored.

Germany: The submarine activity, according to Consul General Skinner's report, goes on in defiance of the rules of humanity laid down by the president. The Lusitania case is regarded in diplomatic circles as settled, but not upon the basis of President Wilson's demand for a disavowal. On the contrary, Germany holds that the attack was justifiable as an act of retaliation but expresses willingness to pay so much per head for American lives.

Here: Carranza, the last hope of the Wilson administration, appears to be tottering toward a final collapse, while Villa the bandit, whom General Pershing was ordered to get and then ordered to let alone, looms up as a formidable power in northern Mexico, and chaos, starvation and death stalk at will over the stricken country.

Central America: Late dispatches announce the killing of two American officers and the wounding of a number of American soldiers. This is another country with which the United States is not at war.

Nicaragua: President Chamorro, who ousted Llerena in ordering wholesale executions, has just been re-elected under the guise of American sympathy, receiving 50,000 votes out of 60,000 votes cast.

Costa Rica: Honduras and Guatemala—all are bitterly hostile toward the United States because President Wilson ignored their claims regarding the Nicaraguan concession of a naval base in Fonseca Bay to the United States and disregarded the decision of the Central American peace court.

Central America: President Wilson proposed to pay $25,000,000 to assuage the wounded feelings of this country and compensate it for the loss of Panama. An investigation of the alleged lobby said to have been furthering this project was never completed.

China: The open door has been closed. American bankers were practically forced by the Wilson administration to withdraw from the six point loan group and the country has been left to mercies of Japan and Russia.

No diplomatic problems with Europe have been settled. The influence of the United States in the Orient has become negligible. Central America has become a shambles largely as a result of Wilson's policy of lack of policy. South America is indifferent.

To counterbalance this dismal record there remain the Bryan peace treaties, more than a score of them, and a glittering general under the name of Pan-Americanism which was heralded as an amplification of the Monroe Doctrine and an international gospel of brotherly love. This takes rank with that other literary policy of "humanity" as a splendid opportunity for the full play of rhetorical diplomacy.

Evidently it is the hope of the Wilson administration that the development of foreign trade will follow the shadow of the written word, and that the United States, wealthy and deployed among nations as one that will not protect its own, shall be literary at all costs.

sia, Japan, and other powers have strong protective systems to guard their domestic markets. Where is the glorious opportunity of which President Wilson spoke? Or what avail is the establishment of American banks abroad if American goods are excluded by discriminatory tariffs?

The United States cannot obtain trade favors without granting equal favors. And it cannot grant favors to any nation if goods are already permitted to come in duty free. France has a double tariff—a maximum which all nations must meet, and a minimum which is conceded to nations which make similar concessions. These concessions are arranged through commercial treaties.

This was the system established under the McKinley and Payne-Aldrich tariff laws. Under that system the United States made headway in world commerce while protecting the American market for home industry and home labor.

The Underwood law, passed under President Wilson, abolished the system, and placed two-thirds of all imports on the free list. The result has been a cutting down of revenue. The democratic theory was that a reduction of the tariff and the enlargement of the free list would reduce the cost of living.

Has any part of America enjoyed a reduction in the cost of living? On the contrary, the cost of living is rapidly increasing. It is greater now than it has ever been.

RAILROAD TIMETABLES. Managers of railroads and trolley lines sometimes ask what they can do to conciliate public sentiment. They find themselves the center of some hostility, largely because of past abuses of corporate management. They realize that a public service corporation needs the friendly sentiment of the public, but they don't always know how to get it.

One thing that will promote public convenience is to publish in the newspapers correct timetables. One of the most annoying things in making a journey is to lose trains. As most railroads change their schedules with some frequency, people are continually getting left because they figured on a former leaving time. People can not always be running to the railroad stations to procure the latest timetable. If they did, the company would be up against a big additional cost for printing.

A schedule printed in the home newspaper showing when trains arrive and leave at the local station, is a public service. It need not take much space. People would consult it every time they travel, and it would save much of the demand for the complete printed timetable, which must be expensive to get out.

No doubt it would have some tendency to increase travel. The advertisement of a railroad is a reminder of the idea of travel, and would suggest to people the journey they would like to make.

It may be said that the newspaper in making this suggestion is merely seeking to sell its advertising space. But it is surely legitimate for the newspaper to remind the business people of the value of advertising.

Some years ago it was much more customary for railroads to print their timetables in newspapers. Under the new transportation laws, a great deal of exchange of advertising for free transportation has been cut off. The result has been much complaint on the part of the public that timetables are not printed as they used to be. It would not cost much to remove that source of complaint.

After refusing their boys the chance to own a chicken or a calf and make a little pocket money, many farmers are now paying $2.50 a day and board to ignorant farm hands who can't speak English.

The campaign grows bitter as it draws to its close and the orators are not sure whether the disgraceful traitors of the opposition should be shot, hung, or merely electrocuted.

The only thing that reconciles the public to the reckless driving of motorcyclists is the possibility that they may smash themselves up.

Some people's idea of proving a political argument is to offer to bet five dollars and then sneak out if the other fellow has the money ready.

The young men would be willing to take part in torchlight processions if the candidates would furnish automobiles to cart them all around in.

The people who go to the mountains to see the autumn foliage return enthusiastic about the good motor roads and the things they had to eat.

The people who go to the races to see good horseflesh don't seem to enjoy it unless they are thrilled to their innermost beings by the chance of making $1.50 on the favorite.

Every candidate for congress has solemnly promised to increase the appropriations for his district and reduce the total budget.

The Daily Novelette

THE KILLERS.

It was the great detective's first visit to Ireland. Rushing into the Dublin city hall, he presented himself before Chief of Police O'Say. "Murder! Assassinations! Holo-causts!" he panted. "I beg your pardon?" replied Chief O'Say. "Holo-causts! Assassinations! Murder! I obtained the great detective. 'Here's my card.' 'Oh, you,' said the chief in awed tones. 'Having no authority in Ireland, I thought I'd better come to those who had, with my information,' went on the great detective. 'I was standing on the corner of O'Toole and McShane streets and I heard two villainous looking characters conversing. I took notes of their conversation. I'll read them: 'Sure, Mike, I've been down to kill Mary and I'm on my way back to kill Patrick.' 'Arra, Patsy, it's myself has just been to kill Renny, and I'm resting a bit before I go to kill more.' 'I say, Mike, let's take the day off and go down to kill 'em all.' As far as I know, chief, the men are still there talking over their nefarious schemes.' Hiding a smile with his mustache, Chief O'Say handed the great detective a railroad timetable on which he had checked off certain stations. To wit: Kilmory, Kilmurphy, Kilkenny, Kilmore, Kilmale, Kilmale, Kilmale. 'I've an important engagement with my plumber—or, my dentist," muttered the great detective, and retired, blushing furiously.

A MOMENT WITH THE MUSE

The Fall. These days called the saddest make us quite the gladdest of creatures, we seek them with cheer, the pleasures of autumn, whatever you've thought 'em, to us are the pick of the year. The weather grows chilly and youths become silly, they risk all their bones and their cowards, while grief-stricken mothers call up the embalmers; the pigskin is back on the boards. We love just to ramble or gaily to gambol midst leaves that are faded and sear, and greatly we favor their sweet burning savor, it's really poetic, my dear. Sometimes with a lady we stroll through Arcady and point out the tints on the trees, or vines heavy laden and say to the maiden, "Some scenery, some scenery is there!" Who dotes on this season may soften his reason, such air and such skies, goodness! He may be quite nutty, quite drivelling, but he has every good reason to be. And soon in due course 'll that delicate morsel the pie we call punkin' delight, the while we do over with oyster and apple—good eating? Good eating is right!

Cream of tartar, derived from grapes, is used in Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder because it is the best and most healthful ingredient known for the purpose.

Phosphate and alum, which are derived from mineral sources, are used in some baking powders, instead of cream of tartar, because they are cheaper.

If you have been induced to use baking powders made from alum or phosphate, use Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder instead. You will be pleased with the results and the difference in the quality of the food.

ARCHBISHOP IS FOR PHILIPP'S ELECTION

Regrets Fake Advertisement in Catholic Paper to Hurt the Governor—Calls it Unpardonable.

Copies of a Catholic publication containing what purported to be an advertisement of an anti-Catholic meeting held in the state capital which have been extensively distributed through Democratic mediums among persons of Catholic faith in Rock county, have worked an injustice to the governor, Philipp. Archbishop Messmer, head of the Catholic Diocese of Milwaukee gives out the following interview on the subject in which he states he is for Philipp and regrets the fake advertisement was published, calls it unpardonable. His interview follows:

Archbishop Messmer, in an interview on Tuesday, expressed the hope that Gov. Philipp will be re-elected. He said the fact that the Guardians of Liberty held a meeting in one of the legislative chambers in Madison might cut into the governor's vote. He was severe in his criticism of the fake advertisement of King's lecture in the capitol, published in a Catholic paper here.

Asked if he thought Gov. Philipp would lose the Catholic vote because of these incidents, he said: "I hope not, for I wish to see him elected. Whatever people may think of some acts or Philip's administration, as far as his attitude toward the Catholic citizens of Wisconsin is concerned, he is, I think, as fair, honest and well intentioned a man as we can expect any governor to be."

"For this reason I am deeply chagrined that a Catholic paper published that false advertisement of King's anti-Catholic lecture to be given at the capitol with the governor's permission. To me and a number of priests with whom I spoke it looked like a mean political trick. The author of the while we do over with oyster and apple—good eating? Good eating is right!"

Asked for his personal opinion of the presidential candidates, Archbishop Messmer said: "I don't expect any governor to be. I am a gray one."

DRAMATIC CLUB'S MEETING MONDAY MOST SUCCESSFUL

The first regular meeting of the Dramatic club was held on last Monday evening with a large membership in attendance. A very interesting program was given beginning with roll call to which all responded with a bit of information about new plays, lectures, etc. A sketch of the life of the Spanish play-writer, Jose Echegaray, and an outline of his principal plays was given by Miss Marjorie Mount. The prologue of the Great Galeoto, which is considered the best of his plays, was given, and the first act read by a picked cast. The reading will be continued on next Monday evening.

PRANKS SUPPLANTING HALLOWE'EN OLD RITES

All Hallow's eve, mysterious and ghastly, brought small boys forth last night who played pranks upon the unwary and it served as an excuse for loveless maidens to work ancient charms and spells in an effort to rend the veil from the unknown.

The observance of Hallowe'en extends far back into the dark, dim days of Druid reign in England, when the last night of October the Druid priest built fires on the hilltops in celebration of the final gathering of the harvest. The sacred fire, which had been carefully kept alive through the year, was quenched and a new fire kindled and in every home the fire was thus extinguished and a new blaze kindled from the fire on the sacred hills.

Down through the superstitious ages the belief in supernatural powers, in fairies and sprites to be propitiated, has flowed in a lessening stream, until it reached the sophisticated folk of today, who smile in amused detachment, even as they make the occasion an excuse for modern festivities.

Some of the old charms are still followed, as when nuts are put before the fire to test the fortunes of the lad and lassie for whom they are named. Burns puts it this way: The auld gudewife's weel boarded nits are laid out and round divided, And monie lads and lassies' fates Are there that night decided.

Some kindly, countrie, sideby side, And burn the together trimly. Some start awa' with saucy pride, And jump out ower the chimble.

Favored Scotch Charm. Here is a favorite Scotch charm which might, however, be difficult to attempt in the city:

Go to a south-running stream and dip your sleeve in it at a spot where the land of three lairs come together. Then go home, hang the wet garment before the fire and go to bed in full view of it. Keep awake and some time near midnight you will be warded by seeing an apparition, bearing exact likeness to future husband or wife, come and turn the sleeve, as though to dry the other side of it.

Many an old superstition clung around Hallowe'en as "the devil's Sunday," when his Satanic majesty was supposed to have full sway and weird witches gathered in mad carnival.

URGES SQUARE DEAL
FOR BOYS AND GIRLS
OF RURAL DISTRICTSGovernor Philipp Tells of His Efforts to Improve Rural School System of Wisconsin.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 1.—Speaking in the Milwaukee South Side armory Tuesday night Governor Philipp made a plea for a square deal for the rural boys and girls living in the country. The governor said that the state will afford to raise the standard of the rural schools, and that the country boys and girls will receive the same educational qualifications that the city children receive. The governor said that the state will afford to raise the standard of the rural schools, and that the country boys and girls will receive the same educational qualifications that the city children receive.

First Milwaukee Speech.

This was the governor's first public speech in his home city since the campaign opened. During his state campaign, he has spoken a number of times in crossroads schools, and has been just as much interested in the rural schools as in the city schools. The governor said that the state will afford to raise the standard of the rural schools, and that the country boys and girls will receive the same educational qualifications that the city children receive.

Two years ago, Governor Philipp, when he was in the legislature, introduced a bill to improve the rural schools. The bill was passed, and the state has since been working to improve the rural schools. The governor said that the state will afford to raise the standard of the rural schools, and that the country boys and girls will receive the same educational qualifications that the city children receive.

Supervising Teachers Provided. "We made some progress during the last session of the legislature," said Governor Philipp. "We have provided for the rural schools a law which will give the rural schools the same supervision that the city schools receive. The teachers are paid by the state, and the state will afford to raise the standard of the rural schools, and that the country boys and girls will receive the same educational qualifications that the city children receive."

NEWS NOTES from MIDLAND
BY DAISY DEAN

Rarely has the initial work of a new film star attracted the interest that is being accorded the debut of Enid Bennett in Los Angeles. Possessing all the qualities considered essential in a screen favorite, Miss Bennett's success is predicted by impartial observers who witnessed her opening scenes before the camera. Little Miss Bennett is the special "find" of Thomas Meighan, who was surprised by her dramatic talent and photographic possibilities during his recent sojourn in New York that he urged her to return with him to California and become one of the stars of the company.

The faraway settlement of York, in western Australia, is the birthplace of Miss Bennett. She is a blond of the vivacious type with the clear, fresh coloring and wide blue eyes that poets are fond of describing as typical attributes of English beauty. It is a well-known fact that moving picture producers stop at nothing to obtain results. The limit, however, has been reached by the producers in the big production of Shakespeare's "King Lear," with Frederick Ward as the star. The most spectacular scene of the play as well as of the photo production is the storm scene where the aged monarch goes mad at the thoughts of his children's ingratitude. Director Ernest C. Ward was not satisfied with any studio made storm, so he took his star and camera men up into the mountains, where the storm raged fierce, and one opportune day, when the elements raged the worst, he put his camera to work and photographed one of the worst storms that have been seen in that part of the country for years. Catching the lightning was the greatest difficulty, but according to reports by using several cameras he caught some thrilling and vivid strokes of tormented lightning that show up with wonderful results on the screen. Frederick Ward does most of the acting in this scene, and was obliged to underdress his royal garments with a complete suit of rubber to withstand the effects of the rain. The thunder and people anticipate extraordinary results from "King Lear," which is to be released early in December.

Jack Kerrigan, according to reports, has secured a Hollywood studio and is going to make his own feature. He intends, it is indicated, to hold a country-wide popularity contest to decide upon his leading woman.

Thomas Meighan is being shifted from the Pacific coast to New York to play opposite Marguerite Clark and Pauline Frederick.

Hyams and McIntyre, who will be remembered first of all for their great success in "The Girl of My Dreams," will come to the New Myers Theatre, Thursday evening, November 2, in Perry J. Kelly's new musical comedy offering, "My Home Town Girl," book and lyrics by Frank M. Stammers and music by Louis A. Hirsch, author of "Hello Frisco" and the songs hits of the last "Follies" production.

A cast of notable New York artists are assisting the co-stars in their new piece, among them are Eda von Luke, Alma Youlin, Maude Beatty, Doris Vernon, Dorothy Reich, Roy Purviance, Maurice Darcy and George Hall, and a large chorus of pretty singing and dancing girls.

"My Home Town Girl" is one of the few musical plays with a real plot and complete story, that furnishes its own interest in addition to the catchy music and rich humor of the lines.

WOMAN'S PAGE

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson
Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) After a fellow has been coming to see you for some time should you take his wraps off? Let him put them on the hall-tree himself? When there is no hall, is it better to take his wraps or show him where to dispose of them?

(2) When a girl does not play cards and has no piano, what else is there to do?

(3) After a fellow has been coming to see you for a long while and you have worn out all amusements, what is there to do?

(4) Is it proper for the mother to remain in the room all evening?

THANK YOU.
(1) Let him put them on the hall-tree if it is in a convenient place. A boy should dispose of his things himself as a rule. Circumstances should determine such a case.

(2) The can make candy or just talk. Boys love to find a girl who is a good listener and an interesting talker.

(3) You are certainly an unfortunate couple if you cut out amusements. Most young people like to go for walks, to dances and to the moving picture show. But if you are tired of all these amusements there is much left to do but stay at home and talk.

(4) It is decidedly proper but no longer customary in most homes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl seventeen years old and I am in love with a fellow of twenty-one. We have gone together nine months. He has been true to me until now. He has made an excuse to me for not coming to see me as often as he used to and he goes to see someone else. He acts as though he loves me, but he tells me how I can win back his love.

ANXIOUS.
You must make him think that he has lost your love before you can win his back. Go with another boy if you can, and don't let the boy come to see you when he wants to. If you lose him because of indifference you may be sure that you would have lost him anyway.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Several weeks ago I began going with a nice young man and I liked him quite well. His mother died when he was quite small and he was raised by the lady he lives with now. Another girl became jealous of me and told him lady things about me which were not true, and then this lady forbade him coming to see me. Was this right?

(2) She also told through his pockets and read the letters I wrote him. This made me very angry and he did not like it either. As we are both of age, has she any right to do this?

(3) He often comes to see me when she doesn't know anything about it, and he writes to me. Should I let him call, and should I answer his letters?

(4) There is another young man who comes to see me once in a while, but he is not to be depended upon. Should I count him as a true friend?

(5) I have a girl friend whom I thought was a very nice girl, and she really was until this summer, when she chummed with a girl who is not really respectful. This girl is setting a bad name. She insists on asking me to go home with her to stay over night. Of course I do not want to do this on account of what people say. What can I tell her so that she will not be offended?

UNDECIDED.
(1) It was unwise for the woman to forbid the boy to see you, because she must have known he would do what she thought best regardless of what she said. I think it would have been better if she had merely told him that she heard and let him judge for himself.

(2) She has a right to do such things as long as he makes her home his home.

(3) Don't let him come to see you secretly. If he knows what was said was false and is willing to stand up for you in spite of everything, let him call, and answer his letters if you want to.

(4) Not if you can't depend upon him. Don't worry about offending her. Tell her the truth and try to help her to see her mistake.

(5) Tell her the truth and try to help her to see her mistake.

Household Hints

BREADS.
Corn Meal-Rye Brown Bread.—One pint corn meal, one pint rye flour, one teaspoon brown sugar, one teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon lard or butter, three-fourths pint milk. Sift together corn meal, rye flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Rub in the shortening, add milk and mix the whole into a batter. Bake forty minutes in hot oven.

Oatmeal Bread.—One cake compressed yeast, one-half cup lukewarm water, two cups boiling water, two cups rolled oats, one-fourth cup brown sugar, two tablespoons melted lard, four cups sifted flour, one teaspoon salt. Pour boiling water over oatmeal, cover, let stand until lukewarm. Dissolve yeast and sugar in one-half cup lukewarm water, add shortening and all to the water and oatmeal, and one cup of flour or enough to make an ordinary sponge. Beat well, cover and set aside in warm place until light. Add salt and flour to make a good dough, not too stiff. Knead well, place in greased bowl, cover and let rise in warm place again until double its bulk. Mold into loaves, fill well-greased pans half full, cover and let rise about one hour. Bake forty-five minutes in hot oven. Fine if directions are followed.

Virginia Spoon Bread.—One cup cooked hominy, two cups corn meal, four tablespoons lard, one egg, two eggs, four tablespoons melted butter, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Mix lard with the hot hominy. When cool add milk and eggs well beaten, corn meal mixed and sifted with baking powder, melted butter and salt. Bake in buttered pan thirty to forty minutes.

Soft Gingerbread.—One cup molasses, one cup sugar, one cup sour milk, two eggs, two teaspoons soda, two and one-half cups sifted flour, one and one-half cups melted butter, one tablespoon ginger, one tablespoon cinnamon. Mix sugar with sour milk, then add molasses, then eggs, well beaten, and add the butter. Sift dry ingredients and add to wet.

THE TABLE.
Tuna Loaf.—This is very good for the main dish at dinner. Beat one pound fish light and add to it one cup bread crumbs, one cup milk, salt, pepper to taste, juice of one lemon. Press this mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake twenty-five minutes. Serve with following sauce: Melt three tablespoons butter, add to it one tablespoon onion, one tablespoon celery, one tablespoon tomato, one tablespoon lemon juice; salt and pepper to taste.

Tuna Salad.—Flake one can of tuna fish, mix with one cup celery, one cup onion, one-half teaspoon finely chopped onion and one small green pepper cut in small bits. Mix these with the fish, season with salt and pepper, moisten with any good salad dressing.

HASHED BROWNED POTATOES.—WITH BACON BITS.—Two cups diced boiled potatoes, few slices bacon, one cup milk or thin cream. Broil or fry the bacon, then brown the potatoes in the bacon, then brown and stir frequently, add milk and cream, salt and pepper to taste, cover and let simmer until quite dry; serve in a mound on a platter, with bacon bits around the potato.

Fresh Fish Chowder.—Four pounds fish, one-fourth cup butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one onion sliced, three cups sliced potatoes, one quart hot milk, one-half cup cream, one-half teaspoon black pepper. While dressing the fish, dress the heads. These with the skins and bones should be covered with cold water. Let simmer for half an hour, then drain off the broth, melt the butter, in it cook the onion until soft. Then add boiling water to cover and let simmer five or ten minutes. Cook the potatoes until dry, add the fish stock. The fish cut in very small pieces and the liquid from the onion. Let the whole simmer ten minutes; add the hot milk, cream and seasoning; mix and serve with crackers.

Cocoanut Cream Pie.—Two cups milk, two eggs (yolks only), six tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons corn starch, vanilla or lemon. Heat milk in double boiler, beat eggs with sugar and stir into milk, thicken with moistened corn starch and cook till thick; pour into baked crust and use beaten whites for meringue with generous sprinkling of cocoanut; put in oven to brown.

Prune Pudding.—One-half pound prunes, one-half cup granulated sugar, one cup sugar, one-half cup seed raisins, one-half teaspoon salt. Cook prunes until soft. Strain from juice and remove stones. Add enough water to juice to make one quart, and in this cook the tapioca until clear with the salt. Add the sugar, stoned

"The Bread Problem" is not a problem in the home where Shredded Wheat is known. The whole wheat grain is the real staff of life, and you have it in Shredded Wheat Biscuit, prepared in a digestible form. It contains more real, body-building material than meat or eggs, is more easily digested and costs much less. The food for the up-and-coming man who does things with hand or brain—for the kiddies that need a well-balanced food for study or play—for the housewife who must save herself from kitchen drudgery. By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE SAFETY OF CANNED FOOD.

Long before germs were discovered the preservation of food by canning was widely utilized. M. Appert, of Paris, discovered in 1804 that meats and other foods would keep indefinitely if, after being sealed in jars, they were kept in boiling water.

With the exception that the cans are now a second heating, after an interval of 24 hours, to destroy any spores which may have escaped the first fractional sterilization, this is the method used by canners to-day.

If the food is not completely sterilized, it will decompose. This decomposition will produce apparent changes in appearance, odor and taste which instinctively prevent the consumption of the food. Often gases are given off in sufficient quantity to burst the can.

The addition of any chemical preservative to canned food is an admission that the canning process is defective or else that the food is already undergoing decomposition before it is canned. Hence a trace of chemical of any sort should condemn the product. Certainly no housewife should resort to chemical embalming in her canning. It is but fair to state, however, that the Reference Board appointed by President Roosevelt (Remsen, Chittenden, Long, Taylor, and Herter) found on ex-

Brodhead News

Brodhead, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Fred F. Pinnow died at the family home in Brodhead at three o'clock Tuesday morning after an illness of but a week.

Miss Thelma Ames very pleasantly entertained the Bloomer Girls club on Tuesday evening at her home. The usual Halloween stunts were indulged in and there were dainty refreshments all of which made an evening of no little pleasure.

Mrs. Frank Grover returned to her home in La Crosse Tuesday after a few days' visit with her sister, Mrs. C. A. Steele and family. She was accompanied by Harry Knezel who went on a visit of a few days to Ralph Steele.

Rev. George N. Foster returned Tuesday to his home in Madison after a brief visit at the home of his son, Jesse, and family. Mrs. Foster will remain until the end of the week.

Harry Roderick has business in Monroe Tuesday.

Mrs. Ida Reese of Brooklyn came Tuesday to visit her mother, Mrs. Levi Adams and others. Mr. Orfordville spent Tuesday with Brodhead relatives.

Medames C. C. Pryce and J. H. Kearney were visitors in Janesville Tuesday.

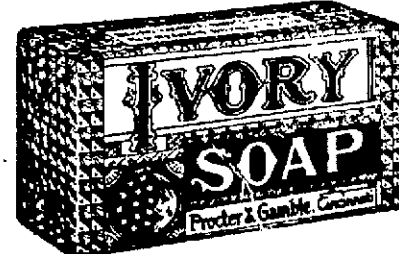

Mrs. Stott of Corning, Iowa, George Griffin of Riceville, Iowa, and Miss Eugene Griffin of Albany, were guests of Mrs. Levi Adams and departed for their home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Egner are moving onto the Stephens farm in Clarence this week.

The M. E. Ladies' Aid society meet Friday with Mrs. Will E. Fleck. A picnic dinner will be served.

destroyed (for the bacilli would be destroyed by heat), but from meat, fish, cheese or other foods contaminated by handlers. Sausage is a famous carrier of paratyphoid. But this is true of pneumonia, every one should know. Boiling or sterilization does not destroy them. Hence the importance of using only perfectly fresh food for canning.

Another point concerning canned food is that people take less pains to refrigerate it after the can is opened than they do in the preservation of fresh foods. Canned food requires even more careful preservation after the can is opened. This sort of carelessness unquestionably accounts for much of the illness commonly attributed to canned food.

Finally, the fear of solder or tin is quite as unnecessary as is the popular fear of iron rust, verdegria, dyed stockings, etc. None of these things play the roles our friends, the old women, assign to them.

History.
I have a pain in my left side which bothers me considerably. I had a haemorrhoid test that small quantities of sodium benzoate used as preservative produced no appreciable influence on personal health—and these gentlemen are authorities who command respect.

Potomains are produced as by-products when nitrogenous food, animal or vegetable, decomposes. They resemble in action the alkaloids, such as atropine, strychnine, morphine. Perhaps the majority of illness attributed to potassium poisoning are actually instances of paratyphoid bacillus infection—not from canned operation some time ago. Do you think that would be the cause or have any influence upon the present trouble? (Mrs. K. W.)

ANSWER.—The left side is a rather vague situation. An operation might have meant cutting a corn or removing a wen. Some months ago covers a vague period. Hence, my answer is I don't know. But of general principles you are probably wrong.

This is Certainly a Bad Day.
It strikes me as rather amusing to find you, a physician of standing, condemning whisky and wine, in spite of the fact that these remedies are official in your United States Pharmacopoeia. (J. D.)

ANSWER.—You must have an obsolete edition. Whiskey and wine are not included in the present Pharmacopoeia. Only reliable, standard remedies are admitted.

PENNY SHORTAGE THREATENS NATION

Copper Coins in Demand Because of Odd Prices of Goods—War Also Responsible.

According to reports emanating from the subtreasury in New York, there is a serious shortage of pennies now threatening the country which is attributed to an unprecedented increase in their use, together with the warring countries' controlling the copper market by virtue of long term contracts.

From the beginning of October until Christmas the big department stores, which have fractional prices on their merchandise, call for millions of pennies every week. The recent advances in foodstuffs have caused nearly all retail merchants to sell single articles at an odd number of cents, thus creating a demand for pennies where one did not exist previously.

Department and chain stores have been opened in the south and west recently in large numbers, and these have created a great demand for the copper coins where the 5 cent piece once was the smallest coin in use. To remove the shortage, it has been suggested that the millions of penny in the slot machines be required to give up their earnings daily instead of weekly and monthly, as is now the custom. These vendors and weighing machines keep millions of pennies out of circulation for months at a time.

Wilson's Opinion of Labor Before He Entered Politics

New York City, June 16, 1909.

Hon. Woodrow Wilson,
President Princeton University,
Princeton, N. J.

Dear Sir:—

In the New York Times of June 14, which purports to give extracts of your baccalaureate address to the students of Princeton University, you are quoted as follows:—

"You know what the usual standard of the employee is in our day. It is to give as little as he may for his wages. Labor is standardized by the trade unions, and this is the standard to which it is made to conform. No one is suffered to do more than the average workman can do. In some trades and handicrafts no one is suffered to do more than the least skillful of his fellows can do within the hours allotted to a day's labor, and no one may work out of hours at all or volunteer anything beyond the minimum."

Now, your reported remarks strike me as being so extraordinary—so different from what I, as a member of organized labor, have found to be the facts—that I feel impelled to ask you if the foregoing paragraph is a correct report of what you said.

If you are correctly quoted, I should like to have you give me your authority for your statement that in labor unions "no one is suffered to do more than the average workman can do." Also give me the names of a few trades or handicrafts where "no one is suffered to do more than the least skillful of his fellows can do within the hours allotted to a day's labor, and no one may work out of hours at all or volunteer anything beyond the minimum."

As a matter of course, a president of a university of the reputed standing of Princeton would not make statements in his baccalaureate address unless he knows, or at least fully believes, that his statements are true. Therefore it ought not to be a difficult matter for you to oblige me with the names of those labor unions whose laws, or even policies, bring about the results you specify.

Awaiting your reply with lively interest, I am,

Yours very truly,

Care Evening Telegram,
New York City..

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY
PRINCETON, N. J.

[June 16th, 1909]

My dear Sir:—

Your letter of June 16th contains a very proper challenge. I quite agree that I ought not to make the statements I did make about the trades unions, unless I were able to cite cases in verification of my statements.

I, of course, had no individual trades unions in mind which I can name by number, but I had in mind several cases of buildings in New York City, for example, the brick layers working on which spent about one third of the working day sitting around, smoking their pipes and chatting, because they had laid the number of bricks to which they were limited for the day by the union to which they belonged.

I had in mind numerous experiences of my own in dealing with working men in Princeton, where I once found it impossible, for example, on a very cold evening to get a broken window pane mended at the house of an invalid friend, because the prescribed labor hours of the day were over and the glazier could not venture, without risking a strike, to do the work himself and could not order any of his workmen to do it. I had in mind scores of instances, in short, lying within my own experience and resting upon the testimony of friends in whose veracity I have every reason to have the greatest confidence.

I of course could not, in the case of more than one or two of these instances, give legal proof of my assertions, but the evidences I have are entirely sufficient to convince me of the general truth of the statement I made.

Very truly yours,

Woodrow Wilson

Mr. Edgar R. Lavery.

Labor's Opinion of Hughes After He Retired From Politics

"HE WAS A GREAT GOVERNOR"

"Now that Governor Hughes has retired from politics and ascended to a place on the highest judicial tribunal in the world, the fact can be acknowledged without hurting anybody's political corns, that he was the greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the governor's chair at Albany. During his two terms he has signed 56 labor laws, including among them the best labor laws ever enacted in this or any other state. He also urged the enactment of labor laws in his messages to the legislature, even going so far as to place the demand for a labor law in one of his messages to an extra session of the legislature.

"Only 162 labor laws have been enacted in this state since its erection in 1777—in 133 years. One-third of these, exceeding in quality all of the others, have been enacted and signed during Governor Hughes's term of three years and nine months.

"With such a record of approval and suggestion of progressive legislation in the interest of humanity to his credit, it is easy to believe that human rights will have a steadfast and sympathetic upholder in the new Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States."

From the October, 1910, Issue of Legislative News, Published by New York State Federation of Labor.

Labor's Opinion of Hughes is Based on WHAT HE HAS DONE

These Are Some of the Laws He Advocated and Signed While Governor of New York:

Wainwright Commission of Inquiry.

Automatic mutual agreement compensation law.

Automatic compulsory compensation.

(The first law of this kind enacted in the United States.)

Limiting the hours of labor for street car men.

Limiting the hours of labor for men in train service.

Limiting the hours of labor for signalmen and railroad telegraphers.

Placing young women from 18 to 21 of age in the protected class.

ELEVEN CHILD LABOR LAWS extending over a period from 1907 to 1910.

(These laws secured the first definite standard for the protection of children in New York.)

Reconstructed the State Department of Labor.

Changed the penalties to make enforcement of labor laws easier.

Requiring semi-monthly payment of wages.

BOOT WHICH REAT TUFTS TEAM'S BEST

New York, Nov. 1.—Dave Tibbott, who dropped a victory over the Tufts goal in the recent meeting between Princeton and Tufts, turned in the best kick of his somewhat brilliant kicking career after noon. Tibbott has been a member of the Princeton team as a substitute backfield man since last season and has been used with great regularity as a drop kicker when critical periods showed up.

In the Tufts game he had made several ineffectual attempts to put over a field goal, but had failed from distances which appeared comparatively easy. With just two minutes left before time would be called Tibbott again was called on, and delivered with a perfect drive from the forty-six yard line, sending the ball at least three feet above the cross bar. It was the longest goal he ever kicked.

The kick was just two yards more of a boot than one of his registered a year ago in the contest with Dartmouth.

Last year Tibbott showed up mighty well as a kicker. Besides turning in the goal in the Dartmouth game Tibbott scored two goals in the game with Syracuse which won the game for Princeton from the forty-three yard line and one from the thirty yard line. He also dropped one from the thirty-three yard line in the struggle with Rutgers.

In the Princeton-Harvard game he dropped two goals, one from the thirty yard line, the second from the twenty-five yard line. Tibbott is strictly a drop kicker, not a single point from placement being credited to him.

A. D. Griffin has been chosen captain of the Ithaca Stanford University football team, bringing the first hill and date leader the Pacific varsity ever had. His team may run California in a dual race.

Important Announcement Made To Smokers

High Quality of San Felipe Cigars Maintained. Now Sell at 5c Straight.

Owing to the greatly increased cost of quality tobacco, in fact everything pertaining to high grade cigars, the makers of the San Felipe cigar, The Decker-Wagner Company, have advanced the selling price to the jobbers and dealers, and henceforth this cigar will positively be sold to the consumer at 5 cents a stick instead of six for a quarter as previously.

The SAN FELICE is national in its scope and character, having justly attained this eminence through its unequalled excellence. To maintain this unequalled standard of quality, the advance in question is absolutely unavoidable. The generous supply of all our quality cigars is earnestly desired.

Important Announcement Made To Smokers

High Quality of San Felipe Cigars Maintained. Now Sell at 5c Straight.

Owing to the greatly increased cost of quality tobacco, in fact everything pertaining to high grade cigars, the makers of the San Felipe cigar, The Decker-Wagner Company, have advanced the selling price to the jobbers and dealers, and henceforth this cigar will positively be sold to the consumer at 5 cents a stick instead of six for a quarter as previously.

The SAN FELICE is national in its scope and character, having justly attained this eminence through its unequalled excellence. To maintain this unequalled standard of quality, the advance in question is absolutely unavoidable. The generous supply of all our quality cigars is earnestly desired.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

Practical confirmation that the Chicago Cubs will desert Tampa and train in Pasadena, Cal., next spring, was given today by the fact that Frank Chance is the man who will succeed Joe Tinker as Weeghman's manager. Chance is out in California, the Cubs are going to the minor league clubs are expected to raise their ban on playing exhibition games with the major teams and the move of the Cubs probably will be followed by a return to California of several other major clubs for training. They get the money for exhibitions out there and it has been proved they don't get it in the south.

Secretary John B. Foster is out with a mean one. He suggests that 50 per cent of world's series receipts be donated to the Red Cross. The ball players will be off of Foster for life now. He wasn't too good with them as it was, for it is reported he canceled several barnstorming dates for the Giants in which they had figured on big money.

Daily bulletins keep coming of the way East Liverpool, O., is honoring Elmer Myers of the Brooklyn Dodgers. First there was a ball game in his honor, next a banquet and then a parade, in which 1,000 enthusiastic admirers marched and burned a lion of red fire. Myers is a long time to break in with Brooklyn, but now he is getting his reward.

An echo of the Federal league war came from Grand Rapids, Mich., in an announcement of the dismissal by Judge Sessions of an injunction suit brought by the Chicago Cubs to restrain Bill Killefer from rejoining the Philadelphia Athletics in 1914. The suit was called, there appeared, none to prosecute, so dismissal was entered.

President Timme of the Milwaukee American Association club announces that he has signed Pedro Dibat, said to have been a star in the Cuban league. Dibat, who is a right-handed twirler, Timme's reports say that Dibat also is some better and has averaged three swats per game this season. Brooklyn also was after Dibat, said Timme.

Joe Lannin and Charley Ebbets having decided to remain in baseball and Washington having declared it will not support the franchise to Baltimore or to any other town ambitious to break into the big show, the rumor mongers are now busy trying to find another club they can sell to in the East. They will make a few changes in managers.

Christy Mathewson's decision to make his home in Cincinnati, leaving New York to its fate, seems to mean that the misguided soul really thinks he is a permanent fixture with the Reds. Even so, how is he going to give John Wheeler the "long distance" phone? Or will the Mathewson publication syndicate move its offices to Cincinnati?

A hint comes from Brooklyn that it wasn't excessive liberality on the part of the Dodgers players that gave Low McCarly a share of the world's series spoils. The Brooklyn players would have thrown McCarly down, but the club had told him he should share if the pennant was won when he consented to the trade that sent him to New York and when it came to dividing up the players were informed that the promised bonus must

PASTOR RUSSELL DIES ON RAILROAD TRAIN

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Canadian, Tex., Nov. 1.—Charles Taze Russell, known as "pastor" Russell, an independent minister whose sermons appeared in about fifteen hundred newspapers weekly, died Tuesday afternoon on a Santa Fe train en route to New York. Heart disease was given as the cause.

"Pastor" Russell—one needs a divinity school degree or ordination of some kind to use the title "Reverend," but pastor is free to all—was born in Edinburgh, Feb. 18, 1852. Until he was twenty he went to school and engaged in the men's furnishing business, studying the bible in his spare hours. There he founded the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society—ten dollars and you become a shareholder—and then moved to Brooklyn, where he began a career that kept him extremely busy to the end—in the pulp, in railroad trains, traveling nearly 50,000 miles a year; in finance, as witness Inland Wheat and the United States Investment company; and in the courts pressing libel suits against newspapers that preferred the verdict of government crop experts to the prospectuses of "Pastor" Russell and his associates in Miracle Wheat.

Russell throughout his career stuck to two things—that hell was not eternal punishment, but eternal death, and that the end of the world was near. He set the date for 1914. Later this was qualified.

BIG POTATO SHOW OPENS AT ESCANABA

Escanaba, Mich., Nov. 1.—The annual potato show of the Michigan Potato Growers' association opened here today, marking the first joint convention of the Michigan and Cloverland organizations which the growers have held separate meetings and shows. The show lasts three days.

Twenty-three counties entered exhibits and there was much rivalry among the growers organized three years ago, holding their first show at Menominee. Last year Marquette had the exhibit. The last two shows in the lower peninsula were held at Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids.

Owing to the fact that the upper peninsula has taken the lead in the production of high grade potatoes, and that it has secured a high position for tubers, the first show of the joint organization is held in Cloverland as a mark of honor to the growers here.

Special attention was given the boys and girls potato clubs which have been organized by men especially interested in the advancement of potato growing. Prizes will be given to the best youthful exhibitors.

CHINESE MINISTER DESIRES TO RESIGN

Peking, Nov. 1.—Chen Chin-tao, the minister of finance, has repeatedly offered his resignation as a result of a furor created by announcement that he has made through Japanese bankers a loan of $5,000,000 Mexican on the security of mines in Anhui and Hunan provinces. Residents of those provinces, which are within the English sphere of influence in the Yangtze Valley, have sent protests to parliament that the pledging of the mines in part of a plan to betray China to Japan.

The minister of finance made an attempt at explanation before parliament, which did not silence criticism of his action. He said the mines were turned over to Japanese financiers in recognition of their efforts to assist China in getting adequate reorganization loans. He further said that the five million dollar loan was merely an advance on a greater loan of possibly eighty million dollars. This did not reconcile the parliament, however, and the Japanese financiers, who are prominent in Kobe, Yokohama, and Tokyo, bankers, organized under the firm name of the Asiatic Development company, expressed a willingness to forego the mining rights if China would grant them the right to buy up copper cash in the five northern provinces of China.

The Japanese legation denied official knowledge of the five million dollar loan and the mining concessions which have created such a furor. Shortly after the announcement of this small loan the Chinese government made a formal application to the Russian, French, Japanese and English bankers, who represent the salt monopoly group, for a reorganization loan of ten million pounds sterling secured on the surplus of the salt monopoly. Chinese newspapers charge that Japanese officials doubtless had full knowledge of the smaller loan secured on the mines, but did not wish to give official sanction to this transaction as they desired to create no prejudice against their co-operation with the allied bankers.

Parliament and Chen Chin-tao have clashed in their interpretation of the section of the provisional constitution concerning the loan-making power, and a complete disruption of the government is threatened, with possible resignation of the whole cabinet or the dissolution of parliament.

Chen Chin-tao holds that preliminary agreements for loans need not be approved by parliament. This view is stoutly opposed by parliamentarians.

An All-Pacific college conference indoor track meet may be held in Seattle next spring. The second annual eastern competition will be held either in Philadelphia or New York next spring.

Not to be done by Boston and Brooklyn rumor mongers a Pittsburgh baseball scribe has announced a deal by which Barney Dreyfuss is to sell the Pirates to Fred Clarke and Ed Gwinn, the backer of the late Pittsburgh Feds. However, since the scribe
